

HOW TO BE GRACEFUL

The Secret of Sinuousness and Languid Grace.

ORIENTAL SUMPTUOUSNESS

The Women of the East Are Not in It With the Virile Women of This Country—Notes for Women.

A man was intently watching some young women the other night as they chatted and laughed and walked up and down the room. He was sitting in the shadows, and they were in the midst of an electric-light glow. He could easily see every change in the expression of their countenances and every movement of their forms as they drifted from point to point. Suddenly he turned toward a companion, saying:

"Even a pretty face cannot atone for an utter lack of gracefulness. Anyhow, winning ways are warranted to wear well, but a lovely face without backing don't wash worth a cent."

Although his meaning was plain enough, his expression of it wasn't as polished as might be.

At a pretty dinner last week ropes of filigree of the valley wound in and out among the covers and the service. Instead of a floral centerpiece there was a large candelabrum set in a mat of these dainty blossoms which had its base and from which went out to each lady's cover a broad white ribbon, silver edged, on which was lettered her name. In front of her place the ribbon ended in an exquisite silver wicker basket filled with filigree of the valley, which, as she took up on leaving the table, brought also the ribbon scarf. At this dinner the shades were white silk, and single candlesticks were everywhere on the table, except in the center, where stood the candelabrum.

White House Ornaments.

The oldest ornaments among the household goods of the White house are the two bronze candelabra that stood on the ends of the mantel in the red parlor. They are six feet tall, and were presented to President Jackson during his occupancy of the White house by General Patterson.

There are many silk and wool goods with raised pile, through which the

FIVE DOLLARS A MONTH.

Dr. Rankin, Specialist—Offices in Rooms 15, 16, 17, Powers' Block.

In taking chronic cases at this low fee it doesn't mean a cheap treatment or cheap medicine. All medicines used are prescribed for individual cases and are of a superior quality. Every case is treated on its merits and there is no wholesale prescribing done. Dr. Rankin would also impress upon the public that a crowded waiting room doesn't mean that cases are slighted. Every patient is given all the time necessary for a proper diagnosis and perfect treatment.

The testimonials published by Dr. Rankin in the columns of this paper have been from gentlemen and ladies of excellent standing, whose reputation for integrity has always been unquestioned. The doctor takes a pardonable pride in these unsolicited expressions of appreciation from his patients.

H. R. NAYSMT, 341 Lyon Street.

Prominent among the residents of Grand Rapids is Mr. H. R. Naysmith, residing at 341 Lyon street. He is a man whose word is as good as his bond, and has risen to his prominent place among those who possess more than a comfortable competence, by his own exertions. He says: "I am glad of the opportunity to speak a few words of commendation for Dr. Rankin. I have found him well posted on his specialties and original in his methods. I found the treatment mild and painless, yet efficient. I had been troubled for years with a catarrh of the nose and throat, and it had extended to my ears, making me quite deaf. My throat was filled with a tough, tenacious mucus I found impossible to raise. I was dizzy and sick every morning and was constantly having and spitting. Since I began treatment with Dr. Rankin I have taken more pleasure in life than before in years. My hearing is wonderfully improved. My dizziness has left me. What little mucus that forms is easily raised. My nostrils are free and my head feels light and clear. The doctor is surely doing good work and I know of nothing that equals it. His methods have my hearty endorsement."
